

YEN YIELD TESTING

The YEN ideas treasury has been formulated from ideas labs held between 2015-2018. The ideas have been categorised into the two components of light capture and conversion and soil exploration to improve the capture of nutrients and water in which yields are formed.

This treasury will act as a resource to encourage the formation of farmer idea groups who are keen to test an idea, or a combination of ideas on their fields. Having multiple farmers and fields testing the same ideas gives us greater accuracy in the outcomes and can generate better discussion around the issue of pushing yields.
